1. Executive summary

1.1 Rationale

The rationale for investing in Dry Mill Processing Plant – emanates from the decisions of KPD Plc to venture into Specialty Markets for Coffee.

Unlike many other companies in Tanzania, KPD Plc is directly working with farmers to invest in sustainable agriculture which is one of the basis for specialty markets for coffee.

KPD Plc was formed on January 2008 as a market development facility for KADERES to facilitate smallholder farmers get fair prices for their commodity which is the main objectives of KADERES as well as KPD Plc.

KADERES is a rural based NGO where over 95% of the total population is engaged and depends on agriculture. One cannot imagine how those people in the rural communities reacted when public services were withdrawn and there was little or no preparation for agricultural operators to enter into the new age of capitalism. For nearly 30 years, people were subjected to a one party socialist system where individuals could not make their own decision on which crops to grow, where and which markets to serve.

From this backdrop and historical context KADERES was born. It was created as an NGO in 1997 to help the Karagwe rural development communities and peasants to improve their standards of living through provision of education, training and other socio-economic services.

1.2 KPD Plc VISION AND MISSION

KPD Plc is the marketing facility of In order to fully understand how KPD PLC emerged it is important to understand the Vision and Mission of the mother organization, KADERES.

First the Vision of this NGO is to see an empowered community in which people are given the appropriate tools to manage their own lives in a sustainable manner.

Likewise the mission of KADERES is to enable the communities in rural areas to fight against poverty through facilitation and management of their own socio-economic programs. The NGO has evolved from a small organization providing a few basic but vital services to a much larger organization that now offers an integrated approach to rural community financial and agricultural development.

1.3 KADERES STRATEGIC PROGRAMS AND APPROACH

Initially KADERES focused on health, water, and environmental protection initiatives. Later on micro-enterprises and farmers supports were interwoven into the program mix.

After undertaking a formal community situation analysis, it was discovered that direct project support is not sufficient for change inducement on the ground on a long-term basis. It was then decided a new program should be introduced for helping peasants to participate in the formation, facilitation and strengthening of the rural community Savings and Credit Cooperative Societies known popularly as SACCOS.

Seven years ago it was clear that, these micro finance institutions can fill a rather large gap in credit extension to rural poor. Historically, many people, farmers and SME are unable to access financial services nor benefit from commercial bank loans. This had a very negative impact on the farming communities which constitute the backbone of the region where 90% of the people derive their incomes from agricultural production.

Peasants and Small holder Farmers were forced to sell the crops before, on or immediately after harvest time where they would be paid very low, unfair prices for their commodities. As a result of KADERES efforts to develop programs to strengthen the SACCOS. 15 new SACCOS received technical assistance and training resulting in a much more effective credit and savings delivery system. In Karagwe SACCOS that benefit from these technical assistance programs are Kituntu, Igurwa, Kimuli, Kyerwa, Kaisho, KIOSA, Nyaishozi, Kitwe, Nyabiyonza, Kikakanya, Chakanya and Nyakatuntu.

Recently KADERES received applications for further technical assistance and support from 9 other SACCOS in the region: Murongo, Kikurula Ranch, Karaseco, Ndama, Nyakagoyagoye, NKK, Kihanga, Nyakahanga and Bweranyange.

Due to the fact that we have received technical advice and financial assistance from HIVOS we have been able to encourage peasants and other members of the SACCOS to start a cash savings account. Before this initiative was launched most individual savings were in the form of commodities (animals), vehicle ownership and land leasing or ownership.

Although the common problem facing the rural communities is an ability to obtain fair prices for their produce – the strengthening of SACCOS in rural villages enabled more farmers to obtain loans for starting small businesses, sending children to school, investing in crop production et al mitigating the problem of selling to the middle man at harvest time at “throw away” prices.

One lesson we have learned at KADERES is the best way to support and empower rural communities is to provide farmers and small scale business with an opportunity to save money; and to attain affordable loans which can be used to deepen economic development.

To KADERES, Sustainability means meeting the needs of the present without compromising the ability of the future generation to meet their own socio-economic needs. This at all time is the foundation where KADERES’s programs are built.

1.4 INTEGRATED APPROACH TO RURAL COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

As in most cases, socio-economic problems and bottlenecks cannot be eliminated by taking one action step. So the integrated approach model is the most logical way to proceed based on the fact that it is better to cure a disease by treating its root causes.

This integrated approach tackles problems faced by rural communities from five strategic angles or vantage points.

1. Enhancing peasant capacity in integrated production development and management of high value added crops, with emphasis on volume and quality ;
2. Linking farmers to financial service providers making credit available on affordable terms and conditions.
3. Enabling small farmers get access to specialty market by assisting them to understand necessary standards and sustain their certification status.
4. Creating a distribution channel for local farmers selling to fair and organic markets; and facilitation of processing and selling their crops at market value.
5. Human capacity building where KADERES and KPD PLC are enabled to better facilitate and manage community development programs that help reduce poverty and have a real impact on the rural poor populations

Therefore and after serious deliberation with experts in the field, donor partners, bankers, stakeholders, farmers and SACCOS it was decided to design three specialized interventions to enhance our programs.

1. Business focus: stimulate trading in commodities –activities that would be financed by loans granted by SACCOS, commercial banks and other lending institutions.
2. Capacity building: via coaching, research, studies, linkages, facilitation, entrepreneurial development and development of specific project and creation of specific monitoring tools. We need expanded support in this area from donors, other NGO and grant making organizations.
3. Administration: Program oversight, preparation of budgets, organization of personnel and business logistics management where additional financial support is also required
