- Animal inputs suppliers will be benefiting, as there will be a huge campaign to farmers on the importance of using these inputs so as to improve the quality of their livestock that would be needed for processing.

7.5 Environmental, Social, Health and Safety Issues

The project is sensitive to environment from planting at farm to processing at factory. The company is in conclusion of the Environmental Impact Assessment (EIA), and from the findings the company is prepared to develop mitigation plans. Nevertheless, the company is at the final stage in developing specific Environmental Conservation and Safe Waste Disposal Guideline in line with Chobo Environmental Protection and Quality Assurance Policy.

Potential Health and Safety Issues

There are no immediate potential health and safety issues that are expected as shall be mitigated through HACCP system, GMP, Bar coding and Traceability system as well as Occupation, Safety and Health Policy and code of conduct.

7.8 Project Risks and Assumptions

S/N	Key Risk	Impact (L, M, H)	Probability of Risk Occurring	Mitigation Strategies
1	Water cut-off and/or shortage of supply	L	L	Constructed water storage facility/tanks with storage capacity to keep running the plant for 4 consecutive months
2	Power shedding and/or cut off	L	M	24 hours generator on standby
3	Delay in finance disbursement from other potential financiers	L	L	Sourcing funds from own saving to continue with the project
4	Competition from source market	L	M	Contract farming guarantee supply, reduce of variable costs-downsize

Along with the procurement arrangement of sourcing livestock from livestock keepers, Chobo investment will continue to strengthen its distribution channel of its products through framework contract arrangement with its potential local and foreign clients. On that condition carriage of its products in the refrigerated trucks should be the concern of Chobo company in order to maintain the quality.

7.4 Backward and Forward Linkages

This initiative will leverage company's position by benefiting about 10,508 livestock keepers and people involved in the whole business chain. The fund will support the model to be feasible to expand present Chobo operations in meat processing with construction of state of the art meat processing plant.

Job Creation

Since the new plant will double its operations, it is expected that the manpower needed to support the operation will as well be doubled from the current 65 Full time and Part Time to 130 full time and part time employees. You can refer the computation of the labour required at the Production Plan of the project

Benefits to Other Businesses

The expansion and modernization project of Chobo expects to benefit other business in the value chain as follows

- Transportation Industry since animals will be transported from the villages to the processing point in Mwanza City and after being processed the meat will be transported in the refrigerated trucks to the markets/clients,
- Boxes, Papers, Sealing, Polythene bags and printing house since meat of different varieties will be packed into different weight
- Media such as newspapers advertisement, radio and television commercials branding "Chobo Meat"
- Plant supplied equipment, furniture and consumables to facilitate and support operations processing and output stages of meat processing. In order for Chobo to meet first class international meet standard, HACCP establishment is unavoidable since the practice and its system focus on improving total quality management approach on livestock sourcing and selection, slaughtering, processing, storage, packaging and distribution. Establishment of HACCP will for sure bring about significant organizational, individual, industrial and regional technical shift in the livestock meat processing in the lake zone and Tanzania at large.

Formulation and facilitation of Livestock keepers business groups is a new and innovative idea in relation to red meat processing with model in applied by involving locals through designated groups. Chobo company has already established collaboration with local livestock keepers association in sourcing and selecting livestock for processing since 2013. On that account, the company is in the process of introducing and facilitating formulation of Livestock Keepers Business Groups (LBG) in some districts of Mwanza, Geita, Simiyu and Shinyanga Regions, with the establishment of the arrangement there is potential expectation of the approach and practice to be replicated in Mara, Kagera and Tabora regions in the coming years. This will leverage company's position by benefiting total of 10,000 farmers and people involved in the business chain with technical shift to local farmers and livestock keepers.

7.3 Project Sustainability

The company has already piloted and establish collaboration with 5 livestock keepers associations (Every association estimated to have 15 to 25 members) in sourcing and procurement arrangement of livestock. The practice has been effective in Some markets and areas of Mwanza and Shinyanga regions since 2013. On that account, the company is in the process of introducing and facilitating formulation of Livestock Keepers Business Groups (LBG) in the districts of Bariadi, Meatu, Kahama and Ushirombo of Shinyanga Region as well as districts of Misungwi, Ukerewe, Sengerema and Magu of Mwanza Region with an expansion plan of the same approach and practice to be replicated in Mara, Kagera and Tabora regions in the coming years. Livestock Keepers through their designated and established groups/associations will be supported and facilitated with inputs (animal feeds), education program and other extension service to increase quality of their livestock when brought to the factory for processing.

transportation and usage of weighing scale at market places.

- ✓ To increase and secure availability of the quality livestock for meat processing by collaborating with more different located livestock keepers association.
- ✓ To introduce and facilitate formulation of Livestock Keepers Business Groups (LBG) in various villages of Mwanza, Geita, Simiyu, Shinyanga regions.

7.4 Project Innovation

Expansion and modernization program of existing operation of Chobo Investments in large scale processing is substantially new business approach to the Company. This is essential move for the company since it needs to cope up with increasing effective demand for its products, thus acquisition of new advanced processing facilities that incorporates all key phases of processing system (input-processing-output Approach) is unavoidable move/decision if the company would like to maximize its returns and attain sustainable growth overtime.

To achieve this, Chobo should have a well-arranged livestock sourcing arrangement with livestock keepers, having its own private medium size slaughterhouse, modern processing unit and own refrigerated trucks for distribution to the final users. This move for the company eliminates unnecessary cost elements additions to the selling price per unit sold since products will be sold straight to final user thus make this approach to be unique in the lake zone since middlemen players costing shall be cast out hence increase and sustain company market share and growth sustainability overtime.

The proposed investment is also intending to secure availability of the quality livestock from the livestock keepers groups in the villages of the Lake Zone, whereby 40% of the raw livestock is expected from these rural livestock keepers while the 60% shall be secured through our own ranch that is in the process of being expanded in Misungwi at the suburb of Mwanza City. Along with the procurement arrangement of sourcing livestock from livestock keepers, Chobo investment intends to strengthen its operation, production and distribution approach and practices to be in the best practice by introducing and establishing HACCP from the input,

The following is a brief summary of opportunities, threats, strengths and weaknesses highlighted by the board and staff of Chobo Investment. They represent a small portion of the complete environmental scan attached to this strategic plan.

Chobo Investments has Strengths as follow:

STRENGTHS
✓ Key first major customer/clientele acquired (Goldmines, Hotels and Supermarkets).
✓ Geographically located near major Goldmines in Tanzania as well as countries of East and Central Africa (Lake Zone regions).
✓ Very focused management team of Experts.
✓ Presence of strong relationship with livestock suppliers through groups in the rural areas.

○ Lack of enough awareness among Mwanza, Arusha, Dodoam, Mbeya and DSM Town prospective customers
○ Lack of enough systematic mechanism for self and organizational audit.
○ Corporate, Management and Operational policies still weak up of the commercial banks.

c) Place (distribution): Chobo has an established distribution network in Tanzania in terms of accessibility and its own transportation system for distribution purposes. Special consideration will be taken on variables such as;

-Distribution channels: direct Orders, Contracting arrangement, distributors agreements and intermediates

-Distribution levels Chobo Plant----->Wholesaler/Agent Hubs--->Consumer

d) Promotion: Activities scaled up to introduce product values and benefits through visibility Marketing in print advertisements, posters, at distributors, vendors' shops, sign boards, flags and media marketing through newspapers and magazines, radio and television commercials.

-Promotional messages: Promotional messages in packages: "organic", "natural taste" and "fresh", aims to trigger consumer preferences in anticipating consumer demand.

-Sales promotion: Events such as meat cooking contests on television shows.

-Personal selling: No personal selling, this is trade off to wholesalers and Consumers.

Under framework contract arrangement, Chobo has been able to secure and maintain long term contracts to supply its meats products throughout the year with Now Acacia Mines, (then known as Africa Barrick Gold) mines in Shinyanga (Buzwagi, Bulynhulu and Tuluwaka) and Mara Regions (Nyamongo), the arrangement has been existing since 2010.

4.3 Internal Environmental Scan Analysis

An Internal Environment Assessment focused on determining how well Chobo Investment's resources, which include physical, human, technology and financial as well as systems and procedures are deployed to implement its functions, its mission and realize its vision. An assessment of the internal environment was carried out during the strategic planning self-assessment tool whereby participants conducted a strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and

-Product Branding: Chobo intends to excel in "TanBeef and Tanlamb Quality Meat" brand on different meanings convey: High Level Satisfaction, Attribute-Superiority in quality, Benefit-tasty meal and easy cooking, Value- enjoyment & tradition, Personality-attention to detail cooking chef.

-Brand Equity: Chobo value the power of a brand name carries in the market, to increase in profits and market share. This is on the levels of awareness by engaging into the massive marketing campaigning with strategic approaches that will target different market segment with consideration of the season of the economy.

-Packaging: Chobo TanBeef and TanLamb Quality Meat put great attention to packaging design for Quality Meat products. This will involve use of boxes, Poly (lactic acid) and recommended printings. The material makes it useful for recyclable and biodegradable packaging.

b) Price: Strategically developed pricing strategy to expected volume and variables. Red Meat in the Lake Zone has monopolistically competitive market. That is a market, which buyers and sellers trade over a range of prices rather than a single market price. Sellers differentiate their products from each other through quality, features, style and accompanying services. Example Lema Food processing can differentiate their products from the rest with different features they offer such as LFP.

-Pricing Strategy: Market price objective is primarily to tap upper middle and lower middle class segments in the Lake Zone as well as its surrounding regions. Achieved through product quality leadership by investing in R & D. High costs invested in R&D will be recovered from value based pricing mechanism and premium pricing strategies subject to consumers perceptions. This will be facilitated through promotions on television and radio commercial advertisement.

-Credit lines: Chobo intends to provide credit lines access for its distributors and wholesaler through framework arrangement and forward contract on sales with special provision and back adequate capital and quality products packed in competitive standards since the delivery is based on the carriage outward arrangement where Chobo will need to deliver the products to customers' doors. The delivery mechanism cannot be avoided, as transportation of meat should be guaranteed with a very strong regulated hygiene and safety procedures.

4.2 Marketing Plan: Marketing and Sales

Chobo will use both consumer and business approaches to Market Segmentation. The first market segment will be for business market on varieties of meat cuts and packaging clusters as per the market orders and specifications, marketing approaches to businesses clients shall consider the following patterns to penetrate and retain the market segment share, demographic patterns, situational factors, purchasing approaches and operating variables.

Chobo will also consider consumer market to open meat outlets/butchers some of the towns in the Lake Zone regions. These meat cuts outlet/butchers shall be customers accessing point of sales with higher, middle and low income this is why Chobo shall have different size, cuts and provision of meats to market to cater different requirements and needs.

Main approach would be price versus quality with the consideration of the average cost per unit on the itemized product brands in the market. Offering more in terms of service, quality, feature and performance.

a) Product: To capitalize our product strengths, specific consideration to product advantages and how they will be leveraged have been geared to focus on the following;

-Product Quality; Chobo emphasis on the quality of its products not only in terms of processing but also in delivery to customers in terms of time consistency to please the customer with refrigerated trucks to any mentioned destination.

-Product Features: Chobo intends to differentiate its products from competitors to gain competitive advantage by acquiring special certification like HALAL, HACCP and GMP. Once these achieved will influence to the uniqueness of the taste, consumer purchasing consistency, packaging, branding and delivery. Making the meat products being provided in the market in hygienic, healthier and rich as per customer taste desired.

SECTION FOUR: MARKETING PLAN AND STRATEGY

4.1 Market Description and Competition

The market demand for processed meat and fish products in the Lake Zone regions has been growing with increasing investments in the mining sector in particular. Growth in demand is also accounted for by increasing industrialization and commercialization of Mwanza, Arusha, Dodoma, Moshi, Mbeya and Dar es salaam Cities with particular reference to growth in high-class hotels, supermarkets and provisional stores.

For quite some time since establishment of the private mining companies in Tanzania, most of the companies' supplies in foodstuffs and other goods have been imported from either Kenya UAE or South Africa. Major customers include; Acacia/African Barrick Gold and companies contracted by Barrick Gold to carry out various activities within the mine. Chobo's TanBeef Quality Choice brand has been supplying these companies with foodstuff requirements most of which have been procured from Kenya.

Potential Customers: Having acquired the requisite experience and established business contact, Chobo now proposes to expand and consolidate its market share in this business. The expansion aims at satisfying the target market with mining companies in particular as well as the growing markets in the hotel sector and potential markets in the middle east countries, northern, and central Africa countries as well.

Market Competition: Competition in this line of business is at present not much since they are only a few players (supplies) based in Mwanza. Apart from Mwanza, there are distant suppliers who can be recognized to be our main competitors in some of the products types that we offer to the supermarkets and goldmines in the Lake Zone, these are SAAFI from Rukwa region, OMAS from Arusha region and Alpha from Nairobi, Kenya.

Prospective Customers include export market in Rwanda, Comoro, Zambia and Democratic Republic of Congo particularly for carcass and meat cuts. These markets however require

3.5 Social Values-Public Policies

- a) Management of Land and Water. Red meat and livestock producers will increasingly need to prove their environmental stewardship through the responsible management of land and water. The red meat industry and livestock producers must play their part in reducing greenhouse gas emissions, thought to contribute to climate change.
- b) Cost and Availability of Labour. The capacity of the meat-processing sector to reward its workers is often outstripped by the labour rates offered by competing industries, with farm labour experiencing similar circumstances. Attracting young people to the industry and offering training and skill development opportunities is therefore critical.

likely to remain intense, with relative price declines, particularly for poultry.

3.4 Consumer Trend

Consumers vary greatly in their food choices and lifestyles, and it is not possible to paint a pen-portrait of 'the consumer' in five years' time. The food market will continue to see some subtle but notable shifts with important implications for the red meat industry. Observation of the analysis are highlighted below:

- a) Consumer Confidence. Given a return to economic growth, consumer confidence will increase and people can be expected to increase expenditure on areas impacted by the economic development, including restaurants and higher priced proteins and meat cuts at retail.
- b) Food Price Inflation. Driven by long-term rises in fuel and grain costs, food price inflation could again cause household budgetary pressure once regional economic growth returns. This could cause particular problems for beef and lamb, given the record gap in prices between these meats and the main competitors, pork and poultry.
- c) Health Awareness. Increased health consciousness is here to stay – driven by obesity concerns and an increasing proportion of our population in older age groups. It is supported by a growing awareness of the impact of diet on the health of all age groups.
- d) Community Concerns. Obesity, climate change and water shortages will cause many to question lifestyle and value choices in this apparent 'age of excess'. A return to more traditional meals and family life is emerging in Tanzania.
- e) Time. We are increasingly time poor and convenience will continue to be a major driver in food choice, but with limits. Successful convenience of the future will be within the context of simple wholesome food.
- f) Consumer Questions. Food suppliers will come under greater scrutiny on the integrity of their production practices, including their impact on the environment and, for the livestock industries, animal welfare standards. This means that consumers will want to know more about what they buy, seeking greater reassurance of 'good for my family, good for my community'.

SECTION THREE: LIVESTOCK SECTOR ANALYSIS IN TANZANIA

3.1 Livestock Population

The meat industry in Tanzania is still underdevelopment despite the country being the 3rd in Africa with over 90 million animals after Sudan and Ethiopia. The 2011/2012 statistics from the Ministry of Livestock and Fisheries Development, indicated that Tanzania has 29.2 million cattle, 23.7 million goats and 13.6 million sheep. Other livestock kept in the country included 10.9 million pigs, 35 million indigenous poultry, 23 million improved chickens and other species.

3.2 Status of Meat Processing Firms/Plants

The livestock processing industry in the country is not well developed. By 2009, there were only 10 small and medium scale meat processing establishments located in Dar es Salaam, Iringa, Arusha, Coast, Rukwa, Morogoro and Rukwa. The functioning modern abattoirs were 3 located in Arusha, Rukwa and Dodoma. However, these facilities are not sufficient to supply quality meat to niche markets (mining, supermarkets and tourist hotels) within and outside the country, which is why Chobo Investment's initiative in the industry is highly needed. Tanzania's annual slaughter is about 1.5 million cattle, 2.5 goats, and 550,000 sheep. (Ministry of Livestock and Fisheries Development, 2008)

3.3 Processed Meat Market Trend

- a) Growth on our doorstep. All indications are that Tanzanian meat markets will experience strong growth over the next decade, with Lake Zone regions contributing significantly to the increase in demand.
- b) Competition to intensify. The competitive environment for beef and sheep meat in East Africa has always been tough, with pork and poultry representing significantly cheaper protein sources and with retail and regional foodservice operators exerting downward price pressure.

Within both sheep meat and beef markets, competition is likely to intensify over the next five years. For both beef and lamb, competition from poultry and pork both locally and overseas is

In addition to that, 10,540 rural livestock keepers/household will directly benefit through synergetic processes by providing reliable quality livestock for meat processing. Worth to note, more than 1200 livestock keepers (5 Livestock keepers groups) have already been piloted and collaborated in sourcing (making available live cattle in 2016) since January 2017. As per the established consideration and assumptions factored, one livestock keeper/household can be able to earn annual net benefit of $ 532 in the beginning of the project in 2016 and $ 1,319 can be registered as net benefit per household at the end of the project in the year 2028.

The TADB & NMB funding will provide competitive advantage and value addition to the business by leveraging the fund with the opportunities prevailing of which would have been impractical to obtain funding and/or financing from the local commercial banks of which are reluctant to finance livestock keepers in the rural areas. TADB & NMB funding will open new financing channel towards systemic change in the financing and banking industry in support of commercially viable agribusiness opportunity such as the proposed business investment idea. The business idea requires high funding as mentioned with long term repayment arrangement of which is impossible to obtain from Tanzania commercial banks in a debt arrangement without political connection of which our company does not have any political affiliation.

SECTION ONE: EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

CICOL is continuing invest in setting up a state of the art Meat Processing Plant in Usagara District, Mwanza City, Tanzania. Soonest after expansion, the plant will be capable of producing up to 47,000 metric tons per year of meat for both local and export markets.

Chobo aims at stimulating and facilitating formulation of Livestock keepers Business Groups (LBG) in Mwanza, Simiyu, Geita, Shinyanga, Mara and Kagera regions through sale agreements, operationalizing source-processing model. The model will directly benefit initial 500 rural livestock keepers and scale up benefit up to 10, 540 rural livestock keepers in February, 2028 of which they will supply their livestock directly to the meat Processing Plant through coordinated primary markets and LBG focal areas positioned in different locality in the livestock keepers' areas in the Lake zone regions.

The total needed financing amount is measured at $ 9,834,900, whereby New Expansion (Cold rooms, caned beef unit, rendering plant) to support current Meat Processing operations cost are standing at $1,955,750, new operation and distribution manning set up cost at $431,750, buy off existing loan exposure from Equity Bank of Tanzania at $ 3,050,000 as well as additional working to boost our installed capacity derived at $2,500,000 while livestock keepers outreach activities expected to consume $ 1,897,400/ that include a huge holding ground cum mini ranch to maintain more than 5,000 cattle for slaughtering.

The implementation of this project expected to stimulate more participation and investment from local and foreign enterprises into Tanzanian Meat industry and this will for sure encourage capitalization of the huge available livestock resources in Tanzania (specifically in the lake Zone) that is inadequately utilized to be gainfully for the economy through commercialized livestock industry, addition of value of livestock products and sustainable livestock development at large.

RE: WAIVER OF STORAGE CHARGES FOR SHIPMENT UNDER B/L NO. EUKOGBTZ1479785 CONSIGNEE CHOBO INVESTMENT CO. LTD VESSEL: TARIFA, VOYAGE, 081 OF 23-JUNE-2017

Reference is made to your letter dated 13th October, 2017 regarding the above subject matter.

We wish to inform you that the Port Management has examined your request and we regret to inform you that we are not in a position to consider your request since the reasons advanced against failure to clear the cargo from the port area are not sufficient to justify waiver consideration.

In view of above therefore, you should strive to pay the charges involved including the statutory charges and arrange clearance of your vehicle from the port.

Meanwhile, you are granted a grace period of three (3) days with effect from the date of this letter to enable you clear your vehicle from the port. Thereafter, additional storage charges at normal rate will start to accrue.

Yours faithfully,

the United Kingdom where the Truck was purchased. From our investigation we found that the shipping agent contracted by us was incompetent and negligent in processing the shipping documents in time causing the halt of the initial release which led to accumulation of huge storage charges from July, 2017 to date.

We therefore request your good office to assist us to get a waiver from the Tanzania Port Authority against accumulated storage charges billed to us.

It our sincere hope that we will get assistance from your office as part of supporting our investments commitment and industrialization policy.

Dear Sir

RE: REQUEST FOR ASSISTANCE OF WAIVER AGAINST STORAGE CHARGES OF SHIPMENT UNDER BL#EUKOGBTZ1479785 AT DAR ES SALAAM PORT

Kindly refer to the heading above, we are requesting your good office to endorse our investment objective to the Tanzania Port Authority (TPA) against a request of a waiver for storage charges of our refrigerated truck imported from the United Kingdom as itemized in the shipping details above.

We CHOBO INVESTMENTS CO. LTD with a certificate of incentive no. 042485 dated 27.06.2013 issued by Mwanza Office embarked on the expansion and modernization of our Meat Processing Plant (Slaughtering and meat processing worth USD 3.5 Million as of the date) in Mwanza since the year 2013 with the objectives of substituting imported meats products supplied to the mines, hotels, institutions and general public in Tanzania and outside as well.

For the past three years, the company has been importing various goods for the new factory through our Tanzanian Ports with items including Machines, equipments, accessories as well as customized Materials during the construction and installation of the state of the art Factory in Misungwi District, Mwanza.

On that cause we managed to import refrigerated truck with freezers and fridges in June, 2017 whereby all required duties were paid in time as instructed by the Port Authorities. After paying all the obligations against us, we received the final release from TRA on 03.08.2017 but unfortunately there was a delay in receiving the original shipping documents from the shipping line Agent located in
