Business relationships:

Big 5 Drinks Limited is the result of a company name from Elite Africa Limited, which was the original registered company name. All old documentation relating to Elite Africa, belong to that of Big 5 drinks Limited.

Serengeti Spirits Ltd (UK) This is the registration of the office and incorporated business entity in the UK. While they are separate individual entities, they both share the same co-owner in Alex Wright and are working together on the production and distribution of alcohol spirits. Both entities rely on Tanzania and the UK for their operations. The investment made into the product development and production through Serengeti Spirits, for its high-quality spirits range, is also for the benefit and use of Big 5 drinks Ltd.

The Snapper shack Ltd, was the first incorporated company in the UK, also owned fully by Alex Wright. The company was also in the food and beverage industry and its expertise was in Lobster and crab. The initial idea was for the companies to join as part of a group, covering both food and drink. Because of Covid-19, the transportation and logistics resulted in this operation, no longer being a good investment. Instead it was decided, that the Snapper shack would provide a loan to Serengeti/Big 5 drinks company, so they money could be utilised in this exciting start up instead.

The Snapper shack has no shareholding or decision making activity in the other businesses, it is simply a financing vehicle, to provide start up capital, that has no stringent fees and timescales on its loan repayment.

Big 5 Drinks Limited have a bank account registered with Stanbic, but it's not yet in operation as the company needs its registration documents and licences before it can commence trade and to begin deploying further capital. This is currently being transacted through the UK and documentation has been provided on the values of the investments made so far.
