14.0 FORCE MAJEURE

- 14.1 Neither party is liable to the other for defaults or delays in performing their obligations under this Agreement if such default or delays result from Force Majeure. For the purposes of this Agreement, "Force Majeure" means:
- 14.1.1 Any act of war, (declared or undeclared) invasion, civil disturbance, coup d'état, act of terrorism, government intervention, riots, explosion, expropriation or creeping- expropriation, epidemic, storm, flood, drought, earthquakes, hurricane, tornado, lightning, fire, volcanic activity, or other adverse weather conditions, or any other act of God whenever and however occurring provided that any such event occurs within or directly involves or affects Tanzania; and

14.1.2 any other unforeseen event over which the affected party has no control and which is of such a nature as to delay, curtail or prevent timely action by such party;

14.2 "Force Majeure" shall not include (i) any event which is caused by the negligence or intentional action of a party or such party's consultants, contractors or agents or employees, or (ii) any event which a diligent party could reasonably have been expected to both (A) take into account at the time of the conclusion of this Agreement and (B) avoid or overcome in the carrying out of its obligations herein.

14.3 "Force Majeure" shall not include insufficiency of funds or failure to make any payment required except as provided herein.

14.4 If a party is prevented or delayed in performing any of its obligations under this Agreement by reason of Force Majeure, the affected party shall:

14.4.1 forthwith notify the other party of any such event affecting its ability to fulfill the terms and conditions of this Agreement;

14.4.2 be relieved from the consequences of its failure to perform that obligation; and

14.4.3 where practical, use all reasonable endeavors to overcome the consequences of the event, and, where the Force Majeure event has been eliminated or no longer affects the party, promptly notify the other party of its ability to resume forthwith the performance of its obligations in terms of this Agreement.
